NEWS AND VIEWS...

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

The annual All-Sports Banquet will be held this Friday evening in the high school cafeteria and we urge all sport fans of Hamlin to take part in this annual banquet.

Football fans will find the highlight film presentation most enjoyable.

But most importantly, these youngsters who have represented you so well during the past year deserve a couple of hours of your time Friday night. If you attended the Athletic Department open house Thursday you have some idea of just how hard they work to field a team that you can be proud of.

We expect an awful lot of our high school youngsters when they take to the field, court or track and this is one way that we can show our appreciation.

As for the open house last week, if you did not see the performance by the boys who will be your next year's football team, then you just can not imagine how hard they work all year round.

To compete in this day's brand of football you can not wait until fall to start getting ready, in fact you have to work year round to compete with the winners.

A recent news story in the Christian Science Monitor reports on a major effort that is under way to see that the United States' 60 million rural residents get as much help from Uncle Sam as city dwellers do.

According to the story the effort is two-pronged:

—Establishment last month of a Washington-based organization for rural and small-town residents, similar to consumer organizations which provide consumers with a national voice.

“Rural America desperately needs a voice,” says Richard Margolis, chairman of the organization — Rural America, Inc. “There's a real vacuum in Washington. . . Many policies have been formed without taking rural needs into account.”

—Soon, a parallel organization is to be set up to lobby in Congress and other government agencies for specific bills or positions.

Ultimately, says Margolis in an interview, he hopes regional groups will be established to advocate the needs of rural Americans at state and regional levels.

In the two weeks since Rural America was established, several congressional committees and federal agencies have asked it for information about rural needs. That is the kind of role Margolis envisions the organization ultimately playing being “able to act as an ombudsman for many of the groups in rural America who need representation in various corridors of power in Washington.”

The ordinance would require the repair or demolition of any buildings deemed dangerous by the three-man commission to be named by the council at the June meeting. The full text of the ordinance will be published in the next three issues of The Herald.

The board also named an Equalization Board composed of Henry Albritton, Sam Mac Hodges and Bobby Moore and approved two street lights to be installed at Site “A” of the Hamlin Housing Authority located at N. W. 6th Street.

The board authorized the painting of the fire station and delayed any action on a request for stop signs at Northwest Third and Northwest Ave. B until a master plan for the city can be formulated.

Students Study Life Cycle of Silkworms

As a part of the science study of the life cycle of insects (egg, caterpillar, pupa and adult), the students in the second grade classes have seen the process of silkworms taking place in their classrooms.

Silkworm caterpillars, hatched April 9, were obtained from a teacher in Abilene. The children kept the young supplied with fresh mulberry leaves every two hours until the caterpillars had grown to about 70 times their original size. During this time they shed their skins four times.

When the caterpillars were four and a half weeks old, they began spinning cocoons with colors ranging from gold to white. One cocoon was soaked in warm water to dissolve the gum from the fiber. The students then unwound the fiber and observed the texture and strength of the fine thread.

The last week of school, the full-grown moths will emerge, mate, lay from 300 to 500 eggs and die. The eggs can be refrigerated and used in a study next year.

Encyclopedia skills as well as language skills have been developed as the children have studied and written reports on their project.

Teachers sponsoring the project are Mrs. Joe Norton, Mrs. Leldon Clifton and Mrs. A. I. Simon.

FROM THE FILES . . .

FIFTY YEARS AGO
(May 22, 1925)

Just a few days ago there were two young business men in Hamlin looking for a location for a new business. They had been viewing several other West Texas towns and came to the conclusion that Hamlin was the best deal after all is said and done that they could find. So about June 10 Mr. P. J. White of Ovalo and Mr. T. M. Pee of Lawn will open up a stock of general hardware goods in one of the James buildings and the company will be known as the Hamlin Hardware Company.

Last Monday evening the Executive Board and Faculty of Central Nazarene Academy presented the graduating class of 1925 in an appreciated program. The Rev. W. H. Phillips, president-elect, gave the address for the occasion.

Miss Jessie A. Johnson left Thursday for her home in Pilot Point after spending the past school term here as teacher of Expression in the Hamlin High School. Miss Johnson has won the appreciation of a large number of Hamlin people.

Dr. L. P. McCrary is having a new filling station built at the south end of Central Avenue to catch the crossroads trade. In the residence section, the Claude Gray home and the Albritton home are about to be finished.

On Wednesday evening of this week a joint recital was given by the Music and Expression Department that proved a real treat to all who appreciate fine art work. Mrs. Cooper was in charge of the Music and Miss Johnson, the Expression.

There will be an interesting program at the Neinda Methodist Church next Sunday. Dinner will be served on the grounds and some extra good singing will be heard.

mencement Friday at 8 p.m. in Ed Mason Gymnasium.

Driver's education for 14-year-olds will be conducted again this year. The summer course in state approved driver education will be conducted by Harold L. Williams.

The Rev. Byron Bryant will be the baccalaureate speaker for the Class of 1965 Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Hamlin High School auditorium.

provide what delegates to last month's Rural America conference here say is much needed: equity for rural residents.

Past national policies, indicates Margolis, have been based on the assumption that rural residents are nearly all farmers. But with the great decline in recent decades in the number of American farms, only 5 percent of rural residents today are farmers, says Margolis — himself a small-town resident but not a farmer.

His organization wants to turn around government policies to recognize this change and give rural Americans a fair share of federal funds — for housing, transportation, health education. What Margolis seeks is what delegates to the conference demanded — that rural America be helped fairly by Uncle Sam to become a "viable alternative" to city life.

"Past federal policy has been kind of self-fulfilling," Margolis says, accelerating the process of deterioration of small towns. He cites the bypassing of small towns by federally aided highways; federal permission to railroads to abandon small-town stops; the fact that although 60 percent of the inadequate housing in the nation, according to the Census Department, is in rural areas, only 20 percent of federal housing subsidies are given rural communities.

His organization ultimately hopes to convince the government to reverse these trends, providing to the country areas better transportation; more housing, health, and education subsidies.

A SYMBOL OF SAFETY

When the ship is in danger, we can depend on the life-boats to take us over the seas to safety. It is comforting to glance at the life-boat when the seas are rough.

Our Armed Services are a symbol of safety when our country is in trouble, when war threatens to raise its ugly head. In the past, when war has come, our servicemen have not hesitated to give their lives to protect and defend us.

There is a special Day each year when we remember and honor our servicemen who have died in the defense of our blessed country. Let us not forget, as individuals, to honor these dead and give thanks to God for those who protect us even now. Remember them as you attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

House Passes Jones County Judicial District Court Bill

Texas House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly Monday for legislation sponsored by Representative Elmer Martin creating a separate district court for Jones County.

The vote was 113-4 on final passage of an Omnibus Court Bill (House Bill 2175) which creates the 223rd Judicial District for Jones County and ten additional courts in various areas of the state.

The bill now goes to the Senate for consideration of vote.

Here is what the Omnibus Bill provides for Jones County: 1. Removing Jones County from the 104th Judicial District, leaving the 104th solely to Abilene and Taylor County; 2. Establishing the new 223rd Judicial District with its own district judge and district attorney, both salaried by state appropriation.

House passage of the single court for Jones County is an advance in the effort by leaders in Anson, Stamford and Hamlin for a decade to separate Jones from the Abilene designated district court.

The new court had the support of the House Judicial Affairs Committee, chaired by Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad, and the committee's subcommittee chaired by Representative W. S. (Bill) Heatly of Paducah.

"The double bill recommendation for both the subcommittee and committee, plus the overwhelming vote on the House floor, Representative Martin said, 'plainly reflects the Legislature's understanding of Jones County's need for this new district court.'"

In appearances before the Judicial Affairs Committee Representative Martin emphasized that the present 104th district court (composed of Taylor and Jones Counties) has an increasing number of cases pending.

As of last January 1st, the court had 2790 cases of all types pending; 506 of these cases were pending in Jones County and 2284 cases were pending in Taylor County.

Creation of the 223rd District Court for Jones County in the Omnibus Bill that passed the House stemmed from Representative Martin's house bill 1948, which originally proposed the creation of the 241st judicial district for Jones.

In addition, the state representative proposed an amendment which would have switched civil and criminal jurisdiction of the County courts to the proposed new district courts with the county attorney handling all prosecution. This was a bargaining amendment in the event that opposition to the bill developed within the committee.

However, support in both the subcommittee and committee developed for a full district court, with both district judge and district attorney and the county courts remaining as is. Representative Martin, after checking with the Jones County officials, agreed with the committee plan which also lumped 11 new courts into the single Omnibus Bill and changed the district from 241st to 223rd district.

Remember Reddy

Supplies the energy—but only YOU can use it wisely!

Reddy's helpful tips for your Room Air-Conditioner

Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.

Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.

Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

You purchased fine-home comfort when you bought your air conditioning unit. Properly maintained, it will offer you years of efficient service. A once-a-year check-up by your dealer pays dividends in savings on operating and breakdown costs.

The three purposes of the organization are to strengthen the relationships between school, parents, and community; to coordinate efforts of school and community and get parents more interested in the educational process of

KUWAIT FLOATS ON AN OCEAN OF OIL

Tiny Kuwait, no larger than the state of Vermont, practically floats on 15% of the world's known oil reserves, assuring every citizen of that country a free education, free medical care, pensions and no income tax.

But for the people who generate power for the electric cooperative the higher fuel costs mean higher generating costs and thus higher electric bills for the cooperative and its member-owners.

Long before Kuwait achieved such affluence, however, your electric cooperative was providing dependable power at its lowest possible price.

Nothing can change that commitment.

The boys competed in varied skill events Saturday, including log sawing contest, first aid, knots, flaglore and map and compass course. "The compass course was from 3 1/4 to 4 1/2 miles in length and was extremely difficult to run," stated Sammy Ferguson, local Scoutmaster.

Four patrols from Hamlin competed: Flaming Arrow Patrol, winning a third place; Bear patrol, third place; Panther Patrol, second place; and Hawk Patrol, second place.

Members attending were David Hertel, Harold Pruitt, Britt Cary, Steven Campbell, Neal Baker, Wendell Roberts, Joe Smith, Wayne Wheat, and Scoutmasters, Randall Smith and Ferguson.

Philosopher Thinks He Knows Why New York City Is Faced With Financial Ruin

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One takes a long-distance view of New York this week, we think.

Dear editor:

According to something I saw on television the other night, later confirmed by the newspapers — I always wait to make sure — New York City is almost financially busted.

It takes a billion dollars a month to run the city, that much revenue isn't coming in, and if the Federal government doesn't lend or give — generally it's the same thing — the city a billion and a half dollars right away the city won't be able to pay its bills.

The more you think about this the more it makes you scratch your head. New York, we've been led to believe, is the intellectual, financial and talent center of the United States. It has all the big financial houses, Wall Street, the stock exchanges, the capital. It has most of the big publishing firms, television networks, the national magazines, the editors, the art museums, the big writers. In short, it's supposed to have almost a monopoly on the brains of the country.

Yet it can't pay its bills.

I mean, stop and think, how many cities and towns can you name, not counting Hamlin, of course, that invariably elect the smartest men to run the place? How many state legislatures are there that represent the top brains of that state? How many Governors, how many Presidents... but wait a minute, this narrows it down too uncomfortably, you're not going to catch me in that kind of a corner.

In other words, sometimes there seems to be a marked difference between the people's brains and the people's government, and numerous remedies have been suggested over the years. The most often stated one is that public office doesn't attract the top brains because they can earn more in private works, and politicians are therefore always saying that if you'll raise the salary of office you'll get a better quality of office-holder.

The only trouble with this is that when we raise the salaries, the same people turn up running again for the same offices.

On the other hand, there are those who say people get about as good a government as they can produce, that if the people who complain the most about their government were in charge of it, things would be about like they are now. Don't ask me the answer.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

NEWS AND VIEWS...

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

The annual All-Sports Banquet will be held this Friday evening in the high school cafeteria and we urge all sport fans of Hamlin to take part in this annual banquet.

Football fans will find the highlight film presentation most enjoyable.

But most importantly, these youngsters who have represented you so well during the past year deserve a couple of hours of your time Friday night. If you attended the Athletic Department open house Thursday you have some idea of just how hard they work to field a team that you can be proud of.

We expect an awful lot of our high school youngsters when they take to the field, court or track and this is one way that we can show our appreciation.

As for the open house last week, if you did not see the performance by the boys who will be your next year's football team, then you just can not imagine how hard they work all year round.

To compete in this day's brand of football you can not wait until fall to start getting ready, in fact you have to work year round to compete with the winners.

A recent news story in the Christian Science Monitor reports on a major effort that is under way to see that the United State's 60 million rural residents get as much help from Uncle Sam as city dwellers do.

According to the story the effort is two-pronged:

—Establishment last month of a Washington-based organization for rural and small-town residents, similar to consumer organizations which provide consumers with a national voice.

"Rural America desperately needs a voice," says Richard Margolis, chairman of the organization — Rural America, Inc. "There's a real vacuum in Washington. . . Many policies have been formed without taking rural needs into account."

—Soon, a parallel organization is to be set up to lobby in Congress and other government agencies for specific bills or positions.

Ultimately, says Margolis in an interview, he hopes regional groups will be established to advocate the needs of rural Americans at state and regional levels.

In the two weeks since Rural America was established, several congressional committees and federal agencies have asked it for information about rural needs. That is the kind of role Margolis envisions the organization ultimately playing being "able to act as an ombudsman for many of the groups in rural America who need representation in various corridors of power in Washington."

These organizations seek to change the nations' policies to

Of the general fund revenues projected at $211,280.00 for the coming year, the biggest items are $70,000.00 from sewer, $38,000 from City Sales Taxes, and $68,000 from current taxes.

The council projects expenditures of $137,460.00 in the Waterworks fund and income of $138,500.00.

In other action the council passed a dangerous building ordinance which would establish a building commission and provide for the condemnation of dangerous buildings or structures with the city limits.

The ordinance would require the repair or demolition of any buildings deemed dangerous by the three-man commission to be named by the council at the June meeting. The full text of the ordinance will be published in the next three issues of The Herald.

The board also named an Equalization Board composed of Henry Albritton, Sam Mac Hodges and Bobby Moore and approved two street lights to be installed at Site "A" of the Hamlin Housing Authority located at N. W. 6th Street.

The board authorized the painting of the fire station and delayed any action on a request for stop signs at Northwest Third and Northwest Ave. B until a master plan for the city can be formulated.

Students Study Life Cycle of Silkworms

As a part of the science study of the life cycle of insects (egg, caterpillar, pupa and adult), the students in the second grade classes have seen the process of silkworms taking place in their classrooms.

Silkworm caterpillars, hatched April 9, were obtained from a teacher in Abilene. The children kept the young supplied with fresh mulberry leaves every two hours until the caterpillars had grown to about 70 times their original size. During this time they shed their skins four times.

When the caterpillars were four and a half weeks old, they began spinning cocoons with colors ranging from gold to white. One cocoon was soaked in warm water to dissolve the gum from the fiber. The students then unwound the fiber and observed the texture and strength of the fine thread.

The last week of school, the full-grown moths will emerge, mate, lay from 300 to 500 eggs and die. The eggs can be refrigerated and used in a study next year.

Encyclopedia skills as well as language skills have been developed as the children have studied and written reports on their project.

Teachers sponsoring the project are Mrs. Joe Norton, Mrs. Leldon Clifton and Mrs. A. I. Simon.

A SYMBOL OF SAFETY

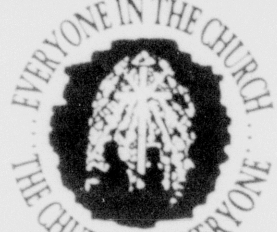

When the ship is in danger, we can depend on the life-boats to take us over the seas to safety. It is comforting to glance at the life-boat when the seas are rough.

Our Armed Services are a symbol of safety when our country is in trouble, when war threatens to raise its ugly head. In the past, when war has come, our servicemen have not hesitated to give their lives to protect and defend us.

There is a special Day each year when we remember and honor our servicemen who have died in the defense of our blessed country. Let us not forget, as individuals, to honor these dead and give thanks to God for those who protect us even now. Remember them as you attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

House Passes Jones County Judicial District Court Bill

Texas House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly Monday for legislation sponsored by Representative Elmer Martin creating a separate district court for Jones County.

The vote was 113-4 on final passage of an Omnibus Court Bill (House Bill 2175) which creates the 223rd Judicial District for Jones County and ten additional courts in various areas of the state.

The bill now goes to the Senate for consideration of vote.

Here is what the Omnibus Bill provides for Jones County: 1. Removing Jones County from the 104th Judicial District, leaving the 104th solely to Abilene and Taylor County; 2. Establishing the new 223rd

Judicial District with its own district judge and district attorney, both salaried by state appropriation.

House passage of the single court for Jones County is an advance in the effort by leaders in Anson, Stamford and Hamlin for a decade to separate Jones from the Abilene designated district court.

The new court had the support of the House Judicial Affairs Committee, chaired by Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad, and the committee's subcommittee chaired by Representative W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah.

"The double bill recommendation for both the subcommittee and committee, plus the overwhelming vote on the House floor," Representative Martin said, "plainly reflects the Legislature's understanding of Jones County's need for this new district court."

In appearances before the Judicial Affairs Committee Representative Martin emphasized that the present 104th district court (composed of Taylor and Jones Counties) has an increasing number of cases pending.

As of last January 1st, the court had 2790 cases of all types pending; 506 of these cases were pending in Jones County and 2284 cases were pending in Taylor County.

Creation of the 223rd District Court for Jones County in the Omnibus Bill that passed the House stemmed from Representative Martin's house bill 1948, which originally proposed the creation of the 241st judicial district for Jones.

In addition, the state representative proposed an amendment which would have switched civil and criminal jurisdiction of the County courts to the proposed new district courts with the county attorney handling all prosecution. This was a bargaining amendment in the event that opposition to the bill developed within the committee.

However, support in both the subcommittee and committee developed for a full district court, with both district judge and district attorney and the county courts remaining as is. Representative Martin, after checking with the Jones County officials, agreed with the committee plan which also lumped 11 new courts into the single Omnibus Bill and changed the district from 241st to 223rd district.

Supplies the energy... but only YOU can use it wisely!

Reddy's helpful tips for your Room Air-Conditioners
Your air conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.
Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.
Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.
You purchased fine home comfort when you bought your air conditioning unit. Properly maintained, it will offer you years of efficient service. A once-a-year check-up by your dealer pays dividends in savings on operating and breakdown costs.

CHECKS TO AID BASEBALL PROGRAM—Mrs. Charles Brumley, treasurer of the Parent Advisory Committee, center, presents checks to Donald Young for Little League and Ed Wheat for Junior League, to be used in the local baseball program. Parent Advisory Committee Donates to Baseball Leagues

The Hamlin Parent Advisory Committee has donated money raised by a tamale and bake sale last fall to the baseball leagues of Hamlin. The money was raised in October when the group prepared and sold 120 dozen tamales and several cakes.

The Parent Advisory Committee is composed of parents representing the various programs in the Hamlin schools. The three purposes of the organization are to strengthen the relationships between school, parents, and community; to coordinate efforts of school and community and get parents more interested in the educational process of their children; and to look into the types of teaching, materials, facilities and curriculum and recommend improvements.

This committee is under the direction of Mrs. Chris Pena, parent coordinator for the Migrant Program.

League representatives receiving the checks were Donald Young for Little League, Ed Wheat for the Junior League and Chris Pena for the Senior League.

KUWAIT FLOATS ON AN OCEAN OF OIL

Tiny Kuwait, no larger than the state of Vermont, practically floats on 15% of the world's known oil reserves, assuring every citizen of that country a free education, free medical care, pensions and no income tax.

But for the people who generate power for the electric cooperative the higher fuel costs mean higher generating costs and thus higher electric bills for the cooperative and its member-owners.

Long before Kuwait achieved such affluence, however, your electric cooperative was providing dependable power at its lowest possible price.

Nothing can change that commitment.

Philosopher Thinks He Knows Why New York City Is Faced With Financial Ruin

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One takes a long-distance view of New York this week, we think.

Dear editor:

According to something I saw on television the other night, later confirmed by the newspapers — I always wait to make sure — New York City is almost financially busted.

It takes a billion dollars a month to run the city, that much revenue isn't coming in, and if the federal government doesn't lend or give — generally it's the same thing — the city a billion and a half dollars right away the city won't be able to pay its bills.

The more you think about this the more it makes you scratch your head. New York, we've been led to believe, is the intellectual, financial and talent center of the United States. It has all the big financial houses, Wall Street, the stock exchanges, the capital. It has most of the big publishing firms, television networks, the national magazines, the editors, the art museums, the big writers. In short, it's supposed to have almost a monopoly on the brains of the country.

Yet it can't pay its bills.

Local Students Complete Work At WTC, Snyder

Two students from Hamlin, Sheri Howerton and Henry Carl Lee, were among the students receiving degrees and certificates from Western Texas College in Snyder in May 15 ceremonies.

Miss Howerton, who received a Certificate of Technology (Stenographic), was graduated with honors with a grade point average of 3.71. A graduate of Hamlin High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Howerton Sr.

Lee, a history major at WTC, received the Associate in Arts degree. He is the son of Mrs. Annie Lee.

Debra Hollis To Head Band

Debra Hollis was elected president of the Hamlin High School Band for the 1975-76 school term.

Other officers to serve with her are Gary Ford, vice president; Debi Cary, secretary; Lori Driver, historian; and Elaine Carlton, reporter.

The officers will assume their duties when school begins in the fall.

Scoutmasters Take Training

Randall Smith and Samuel C. Ferguson, local scoutmasters, recently finished Timber Tag Training offered through the Chisholm Trail Council in Abilene.

Training included four weeks classroom sessions and two weekend campouts. Discussions were on the new overall changes in scouting, improved patrol and troop methods and functions of various officers within the local scouting system.

The two scoutmasters were members of the Eagle patrol with Randall being elected the patrol leader.

Bridge Winners

Tuesday evening competition of the Hamlin Duplicate Bridge Club resulted in a first place for Mrs. W. L. Hunter Jr. and Mrs. L. W. Shivers Jr.

Second place was won by Mrs. Ray Sonnenburg and Justin Morrow of Rotan; and Helen Vidrine and Pate Willingham, both of Abilene, won third place.

Local and regional chambers of commerce have been called on by the Governor to coordinate the new Texas First program to generate 4,000 new jobs in the next year.

This is ridiculous, I told myself. Then I got to thinking. Sure, New York has a lot of brains — not all the brains, even if it thinks it has — but they may not necessarily be in charge of the city.

I mean, stop and think, how many cities and towns can you name, not counting Hamlin, of course, that invariably elect the smartest men to run the place? How many state legislatures are there that represent the top brains of that state? How many Governors, how many Presidents . . . but wait a minute, this narrows it down too uncomfortably, you're not going to catch me in that kind of a corner.

In other words, sometimes there seems to be a marked difference between the people's brains and the people's government, and numerous remedies have been suggested over the years. The most often stated one is that public office doesn't attract the top brains because they can earn more in private works, and politicians are therefore always saying that if you'll raise the salary of office you'll get a better quality of office-holder.

The only trouble with this is that when we raise the salaries, the same people turn up running again for the same offices.

On the other hand, there are those who say people get about as good a government as they can produce, that if the people who complain the most about their government were in charge of it, things would be about like they are now. Don't ask me the answer.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
